Raison d’Être of the Course: In this course, we shall examine the various levels of analysis, actors, inputs, and outcomes that are part of the political process with respect to environmental matters. As stated in the general course description, and owing to the nature of environmental issues, the study of environmental politics draws on the two subfields of International Politics: International Relations and Comparative Politics. Hence, we shall review the theoretical frameworks employed in each of these subfields and critically assess how best to analyze environmental political issues and which strategies policy makers may best employ to address these issues.

Given the number of popular concerns such as dependency on oil and the dangers of oil drilling; food chain vulnerabilities; and the increasingly tangible threat of global environmental problems such as climate change – the study of issues of environmental concern and their impact on the policy-making process has become a very hot topic, and promises to remain so for some time to come as the world continues to globalize. In this course, we shall acquaint ourselves with a selection of environmental issues, examine how environmental problems have been translated into the policy-making arena and the actors involved, and consider the effects (intended and otherwise) of the decisions that politicians, organizations, and even individuals in the US and around the world have made and may make concerning the environment.

The topic of environmental politics is extremely broad, so please be aware that we shall not be able to cover all environmental topics; rather, our main goal will be to establish the necessary critical framework and tools to research and analyze environmental issues within political systems. You will have the opportunity, however, to choose an environmental topic of interest to you and to work as groups to perform further research, presenting the results of this research to the class (see below).

Course Objectives

In this course, we shall work to:

- develop a clearer understanding of the politics of the environment, and the similarities and differences among different countries with regard to their histories and responses to environmental challenges
- explore the political institutional, cultural, and economic aspects of environmental issues so we can better understand how these factors affect political outcomes
- compare these systems and countries in particular to the case of the United States, which we shall use as a base reference
- engage in critical assessments of the differences and similarities we find, asking whether or not changes in a country's political institutions may provide viable answers to some of the current problems and controversies that many countries face today with regard to migration issues (such as security, the rise of far-right politics, development, and social stability)
- develop sharper critical thinking skills that will enable you to better understand and assess the value of news articles, research papers, and proposed policies relating to migration issues
- use theoretical tools from the course to explain, predict, or prescribe policy reform and political behavior as a researcher or practitioner in the field of politics
- be able to comprehend and communicate theoretical concepts and findings with more effective written and verbal communication skills

Texts:

We shall use two main (required) textbooks and one (required) supplemental text for the course. The first half of the course shall draw on the following:

Axelrod, Regina, Stacy D. VanDeveer (eds.). The Global Environment: Institutions, Law, and Policy. Los Angeles: CQ Press, 2015.

(Noted as “AVD” in the course schedule below.)

ISBN: 978-1-4522-4145-6 (paperback)

978-1-4833-1200-2 (e-book)

The hard copy format of our textbook for the second half of the course is very expensive, but an on-line version is available through the Library, and I shall put a hard copy on reserve:

McBeath, Jerry, and Jonathan Rosenberg. Comparative Environmental Politics.

Dordrecht, The Netherlands: Springer, 2006.

(Noted as “MR” in the course schedule below.)

ISBN: 978-1-4020-4763-3 (e-book)

Link to e-book - from UGA Library site (MyID password required if off-campus):

<http://www.springerlink.com/content/978-1-4020-4762-6/#section=436091&page=1&locus=23>

Weston, Anthony. A Rulebook for Arguments. (4th Edition) Indianapolis: Hackett

Publishing Company, Inc. 2009. (Noted as “AW” in the course schedule below.)

ISBN: 978-0-87220-954-1

There will also be selected readings from other texts and news articles, some of which are listed in the course schedule below, and some which will be determined later. All of these readings will be posted on the course's site on the eLC. Please NOTE: The readings that will be posted on the course Web site are for use by students in this course ONLY! Please do not share these copyrighted materials with others, else I shall receive a nasty "cease and desist order" from the publishers. Not fun.

Ground Rules

Each day's assignments and readings must be completed before class, and each student must be ready to conduct a quality discussion on the day's material. Also, lectures will not be mere repetition of the reading material, and students will be expected to come to class ready to expand on the readings and assignments. In effect, we shall be building the lectures together, so each student must be engaged in the discussions (and, of course, this counts towards your participation grade!).

Please note the following:

1. The use of laptops, cell phones, iPods, or any other electronic device will not be tolerated during class. Period. No exception. We shall be doing this old-school, ladies and gentlemen. If you cannot be disconnected for 50 minutes thrice a week, do not take this class. Also note that, as adults, I will not reprimand you for using your e-device: I shall simply give you a zero for participation on the day(s) that you choose to ignore this first ground rule. Note: For anyone who dares to use an electronic device when we have a guest speaker, I shall give you a zero for your semester participation grade. You really don't want to lose participation credit if you don't have to – it may very well make the difference in your final grade.
2. You may accrue up to three unexcused absences without penalty. If you are absent for more than three class meetings without a valid (per University policy) written excuse, your participation grade will be lowered by one letter grade per unexcused absence. As participation is a part of your grade, you cannot participate if you do not attend class.
3. If you are absent on a day when an assignment is due, you must provide an acceptable excuse per University policy in order to make up the assignment. In addition, if you know you will be absent (e.g., for religious observance, an extra-curricular event, or illness), I would appreciate an e-mail notification ahead of time, if possible.
4. Be sure you know what the heck plagiarism is (see www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/plagiarize). Work submitted for this course must be your own work; all necessary citations must be properly provided when you cite anyone or anything else: All academic work must meet the standards contained in "A Culture of Honesty." Students are responsible for knowing these standards before performing any academic work, and we shall discuss points of academic ethics and plagiarism in class. For more information, see: honesty.uga.edu/ahpd/culture\_honesty.htm. To reiterate: any incidents of plagiarism or intellectual fraud (see www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/fraud) will be treated as the most serious offense, and you really don't want to go to a University hearing over this – it's scary AF. If you need help in determining what constitutes plagiarism and how to avoid committing this most egregious intellectual sin, please consult me or our kickin'-est SPIA Librarian, Elizabeth White (elwhite1@uga.edu, no relation).

5. Late work: I shall accept late work on an individual basis: that is, I may accept it, I may not. Do not depend on my acceptance of late work. For me to consider any submission of late work, you must communicate to me before the deadline that the assignment will be late. If you have not informed me before the deadline, I shall not accept any late submission.
6. Our discussions may touch upon ideas or topics on which we may not all agree – in fact, this will probably be the case. Each student is expected to be courteous and respectful of the viewpoints and ideas of all others in the class, although disagreements are certainly acceptable. In discussions, you should make an effort to provide either a theoretical or empirical basis for your comments (i.e., facts – and there is no such thing as an “alternative fact”). This is a major part of becoming a good critical thinker, which is one of the goals of this course.
7. Be sure to check your UGA e-mail often; I shall communicate important info this way.
8. If you would like to request a letter of recommendation from me, please be sure to give me at least two weeks before the deadline to ensure I have enough time.
9. This syllabus is a general plan; it may be necessary for me to amend any part of the syllabus as we proceed through the course. Announcements will generally be made in class and on the course Web site, so you should be sure to attend each class, and to check the course Web site on ELC often.

Class Agenda

For each class, students are expected to have completed the readings listed for that day in the course schedule. Generally, the first two days of the week will be focused on the textbook readings, and Fridays will be dedicated to discussion of the material, current events, or an activity. The week's schedule will of course be different around holidays and during presentation weeks.

Students are also expected to be familiar with current events related to nationalism and/or ethnic conflict, and we shall have discussions of these events and how they bear on our studies to that point each week. As this is a course in which you are expected to sharpen your critical thinking skills, you should try to check out at least two (2) news sources at least a couple of times a week (no – your Facebook/Snapchat feed does not count) and thoughtfully assess each source and its presentation of the information. This may be most easily accomplished on-line, by going to the “world news” section of a reputable news source. Here are some to try:

- The New York Times (www.nytimes.com)
- NPR (www.npr.org, also carried on WUGA on-line and at 91.7FM)
- The BBC (news.bbc.co.uk)
- The Washington Post (www.washingtonpost.com)
- The Wall Street Journal (www.wsj.com)
- The Globe and Mail (www.theglobeandmail.com)
- The Guardian (www.guardian.co.uk)

- The Irish Times (www.irishtimes.ie)
- Le Monde (www.lemonde.fr – in French)
- Der Spiegel (www.spiegel.de– in German)
- The Christian Science Monitor (www.csmonitor.com)
- Teen Vogue (www.teenvogue.com/news-politics - the News/Politics section)
- Check out Google News (<http://news.google.com/nwshp?hl=en&tab=wn>), and choose “World” to see the world’s news in the country of your choice – there are many news sources here in English (e.g., Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa) as well as other languages.
- With a Google account, you can use “Google Alerts” to set up and filter Google News to receive environmentally-related news items (under “Google Account Settings → Alert Settings”).

You can take a look through various environmental journals on-line or at the Library. Here are a few possible journals of interest that may also help you with your class projects:

- Global Environmental Politics
- Environmental Politics (again, to see all of the possible on-line issues available – including the most recent – use the www.metapress.com link to view full archive on-line this will take you to [www.informaworld.com Journals site])
- Journal of Environment and Development
- Review of Environmental Economics and Policy

Reading Assignments

This course includes a significant reading load (approximately 100 pages per week). To get through this material as efficiently as possible, you may find it more effective to approach the reading in this manner: Read the introduction and then conclusion to identify the author’s main argument(s). Then scan section headings (or the first sentence in each paragraph) to see how the author develops and supports the main argument. Finally, reserve detailed reading for those sections that clarify the argument or provide supporting evidence. Give yourself time to think about the reading, challenging its arguments or coming up with additional evidence that you believe supports the presented arguments.

We shall discuss these readings thoroughly, and to prepare for the class discussions, you should always consider the following: What is the author’s main point or argument? What evidence does s/he offer to support this view? Is the argument and evidence compelling? Can I think of arguments/evidence that support/undermine this? Why is this piece on the syllabus? How does it relate to previous readings? How can I use this piece in an essay?

Grading

Participation	→	10%
Office Meeting	→	5%
Quizzes	→	10%
Data Coding Project	→	10%
Film Essay	→	10%
Environmental Issue Group Presentation	→	10%
Individual Issue Report	→	15%
Issue Debate (Group Grade – Peer-Reviewed)	→	5%
Completion of Peer Review of Debate	→	5%
Final	→	20%
Total:		100%

Grading will be based on several group and individual projects; a mid-term; journal reflections (to be assigned during class and completed on the eLC course Web site); a final; and participation (which includes a mandatory office meeting with me to take place in the course of the semester). Exact details of the assignments will be given in class well in advance of each assignment's due date.

Group Projects:

1. Students will work in pairs to code data from a specific international environmental agreement.
2. Each student will work as part of a group to give one (1) presentation on an environmental topic that the group selects.
3. Each group will also participate in a debate; an issue related to the group's environmental topic will be given, and the group will then be divided, one half arguing the "pro" position, and one half arguing the "con" position.
4. Note that the grades for the debate will be peer graded.

Individual Projects:

1. Each student will prepare and submit via the course Web site one (1) film essay on the second film we view in class.
2. Each student will be responsible for writing an individual report on her/his work on the environmental topic group presentation.
3. Each student will be responsible for leading the class discussion of the readings for one (1) class meeting during the semester (e.g., summarizing the main points of the reading, providing a critique, offering discussion questions, and facilitating discussion).

Details concerning the presentation and coding project will be discussed in class well in advance of the respective due dates. Additional assignments may also be given during class, either to be completed in class or turned in during the next class session.

Final:

There will be a final exam that will enable you to reflect on what we have covered in the course and to offer possible future considerations for the study of environmental politics. A review for the final will occur on the last day of class.

Participation:

As one of the objectives of the course is to develop better critical thinking skills and to be able to communicate concepts and ideas more effectively, participation is not a marginal part of your final grade. Silently attending lectures and completing all assignments on time earns you a C- or 70% (so keep this in mind with regard to how late you get in the night before we have class). A higher grade is contingent on active participation. I define participation broadly, for example: raising questions or expressing confusion about the material; interacting with me outside of the classroom; posting interesting articles on the eLC course Web site that relate to our course material; responding to posts on eLC. If you are concerned about participation, contact me and we can discuss strategies to raise your grade, but do not wait until the end of the semester to do this, as it will be too late by then!

Note that part of your grade (5%) is an office visit to see me at some point before classes end. If you have a question or comment about the course or an assignment, or if you would like to discuss some issue from class in greater detail, this would be an excellent opportunity to do just that. But feel free to chat about current events, your plans, or anything else related to our mutual efforts. Note that if you wait until the end of the semester to come see me, you may not be able to do so if other students have also waited. I will of course try to meet students on an appointment basis for those who cannot visit me during my office hours and hold "happy hour" office hours throughout the semester (usually at Walker's, downtown), but I cannot guarantee my availability outside of my office hours. So, plan that office visit accordingly!

Grading Scale:

Grading for the course will be deemed as follows:

>=94	A	84-86	B	74-76	C	<60	F
90-93	A-	80-83	B-	70-73	C-
87-89	B+	77-79	C+	60-69	D

Late Work

As a reminder of the ground rules: Outside of an accepted University excuse, under unusual circumstances, and on a case-by-case individual basis, I may accept late work if you have communicated to me before the due date that the work is to be late. For all submitted work, it is your responsibility to ensure that I receive your work – not mine. If eLC is not working for you or you're having connection issues, find another way to get me your assignment on time. If, for any reason, you are unsure if your work has been received by me, it is up to you to follow up. I do reserve the right to refuse late work.

Contested Grades:

If you have a concern about the grade you received for a test or assignment, you must submit a type-written explanation of the problem along with the test or assignment in question within one week of my returning the assignment to you. I shall re-evaluate your work and assign a “new” grade, taking into account your written explanation (which, in essence then, becomes part of the re-grade). Note, however, that this process may result in the same grade, a higher grade, or indeed a lower grade for that assignment. You are allowed this one appeal for each graded assignment; the re-grade will then stand. If the issue is merely a matter of an error in calculation on my part, you need not submit a type-written request for this correction, but you do need to notify me of this error within one week of receiving the graded assignment back from me. Capisce? Please see me if you do not understand this policy or if you have questions about it.

Class Schedule

The course syllabus presents a general plan for the course, but not all readings have yet been determined. Depending upon political events that may yet unfold, I shall determine readings for the days for which “TBA” (“to be announced”) is noted and I may also add readings that may be of particular relevance. These added readings will be related to that day’s topic, as listed below, and will be made available on the eLC course Web site. Some readings in texts other than our main textbooks are already listed below, and are marked with a “***” – these, too, will be available on the eLC course Web site. Bear in mind, however, that deviations from this schedule may well be necessary, and I shall announce these to the class and post on eLC. If you note any errors (likely) below, please let me know.

Schedule of Assignments and Classes:

Readings marked with asterisks (**)* can be found on eLC. Changes to this schedule may be necessary.

14 August: Introduction
