Class Meeting Times: Monday-Friday, 9:30AM-12:15PM

Class Location: 0G10 Caldwell Hall

Description and Goal of Course: This course will focus on political institutions and their effects on voters, political parties, the economy, policymaking, representation, and more. We will study political institutions comparatively, using countries as our units of analysis. In addition to a focus on electoral institutions, we will discuss presidentialism, parliamentarism, and federalism from a comparative perspective. We will use the tools we acquire to better understand how democracy works across several countries.

Required Readings:

Several journal articles, available online with your UGA access.

Optional Readings:

Student Responsibilities:

Readings: Students are required to do the readings for each class period. I expect everyone to finish the readings for each class ahead of time.

Exams: There will be a midterm exam and a final exam. The format of each exam will be announced prior to the exam. The final exam is non-cumulative.

Quizzes: There will be a number of unannounced short quizzes, which will cover material from recent classes and reading assignments. There will be no makeups without a documented, university approved excuse.
Participation/Attendance: This is an upper-level course. As such, students are expected to contribute to the discussion of topics. I will not always seek to lecture for entire class periods. I strongly encourage students to read articles from national and international news sources that are pertinent to class material. (The New York Times and The Economist are my two favorite news sources.) Remember, you have to be in class to participate—and to take the quizzes!

Policy on Laptops and Smartphones: The use of smartphones during class is strictly prohibited, but students may use their laptops to take notes or to refer to the readings. Students may not, however, browse the web or check their email. Students caught doing so will lose participation points.

Late/Missed Assignments: Missed assignments will result in a zero without a university-approved medical excuse or family emergency. Students will be penalized for late assignments; 20% of the grade for each day late without a university-approved medical excuse or family emergency. Make-up exams can be arranged with the instructor with a university-approved medical excuse or family emergency.

As a University of Georgia student, you have agreed to abide by the University’s academic honesty policy, “A Culture of Honesty,” and the Student Honor Code. All academic work must meet the standards described in “A Culture of Honesty” found at: www.uga.edu/honesty. Lack of knowledge of the academic honesty policy is not a reasonable explanation for a violation. Questions related to course assignments and the academic honesty policy should be directed to the instructor.
Readings and Course Schedule: The course syllabus is a general plan for the course; deviations announced to the class by the instructor may be necessary.
