Course Description

The “Arab Spring” uprisings that swept the Middle East in 2011 and their contentious aftermath have put into question a great deal of the scholarly and popular literature about the region. For decades, the persistence of non-democratic regimes and authoritarian durability dominated discussions about Middle Eastern political systems. Scholars concerned themselves with explaining why there seemed to have been so little progress toward democratization in the region, while elsewhere in the world - from Eastern Europe to Latin America and Asia - countries made strides on the path to democracy. The outburst of popular demand for democracy that brought thousands of people to the streets of Tunisia, Egypt, Yemen, Libya, Syria, and elsewhere in 2011, and led to the toppling of several regimes in some countries, and to violent conflicts in others, requires a reevaluation of scholarly theories about the region.

In this course, we will begin by gaining familiarity with the history of the modern Middle East and with the varieties of non-democratic political systems that have characterized most countries in the region in the last decades. We will then examine the causes and effects of authoritarianism in the Middle East, considering cultural, social, economic, political (domestic, regional, and international) and other factors that have both shaped, and were shaped by, non-democratic regimes. Alongside reviewing the traditional scholarship on the region we will also explore the challenges to these regimes that have over the years laid the foundations for the unfolding of events since 2011. This will allow us to critically evaluate and question longstanding assumptions.

1 The IA building is officially known as Candler Hall. “Allen Candler served Georgia in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1883 to 1891 and as Governor from 1898 to 1902. Candler also served in the Confederate Army, and as Governor, successfully lobbied for a Democratic whites-only primary based on the argument that the Democratic Party was not subject to the Fifteenth Amendment, which prohibits states from disenfranchising voters based on race or skin color. In an 1899 editorial, Candler claimed that the “enfranchisement of the Negro was a crime against civilization.” His tenure coincided with the most violent lynchings in Georgia history, and he was noted for his response to the lynching of Sam Hose in 1899, in which he admonished the black victims of the violence as well as the entire black community.” USG has an advisory group on building names, if you have an opinion about whether Allen Candler should or should not continue to enjoy the honor of having the International Affairs Department’s building named after him, you can make recommendations to the advisory group here:
https://www.usg.edu/naming_advisory_group about authoritarian robustness and the prospects for democracy in the region. Finally, we will turn our attention to current political developments in the Middle East since the start of the uprisings and consider their causes, their divergent trajectories, and the extent to which they open new possibilities for significant political transformation.

Required Texts

- Lust, Ellen. The Middle East, 14th Edition, CQ Press (available for purchase at the UGA bookstore and on reserve at the library. Please note that on Amazon you can also rent a copy of the book or purchase an e-book for less than half of the price). You can also use the 13th or 15th editions of this book, just note that the chapter numbers might be different.

- Additional readings will be available on ELC and at the library.
- Students should also regularly read Middle East current affairs articles on:
  - Foreign Policy: http://foreignpolicy.com/channel/middle-east-africa
  - Sada: http://carnegieendowment.org/sada/

Assignments

Quizzes

There will be 10 pop quizzes about the readings during the semester.

Presentation

Each pair of students will choose one article/chapter from those appearing under “presentation” on the syllabus and will present it in class during the relevant week. The presentation should be of about 15 minutes and include a brief summary of the piece and an explanation of how it relates to the other readings and topics for that week. The students presenting will also be responsible for preparing three discussion questions and for leading a short classroom discussion about the article. Please send a copy of your presentation to lben@uga.edu and akabaoglu@uga.edu by 10pm on Wednesday prior to the Thursday on which you will be presenting.

Discussion (participation)
This has two options: 1) Students should come to class (in-person or online) having read all the required readings and prepared to both pose and answer questions and engage in discussion on the subject matter. 2) If you are unable to attend class synchronously (in-person or online), you should post to ELC a one-page response to the readings by 5pm on Monday. The response should highlight what you found most interesting in the readings, and include 3 questions for discussion about the readings.

Midterm Exam
Midterm exam covering the topics covered in the course so far.

Final Paper
The final assignment will be a research paper on a topic of students’ choice. Students should select at least 7-10 academic sources to draw on for their paper’s literature review. The paper should be between 10-12 double-spaced pages. Further instructions about the final assignment will be provided in the second half of the semester.

Policies

Discussion Sessions
As per UGA’s COVID-19 regulations, only a small subset of the class at a time will be able to attend the in-person discussion sessions on Thursdays in class. The rest of the class will join the Thursday discussion sessions online via Zoom. A list of names of students who are eligible to attend each week will be posted on ELC. However, those who attend will have to wear masks throughout the session and will have to bring a laptop in order to connect via Zoom to the rest of the students who would be participating remotely. Please note that YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED to attend the discussion sessions in-person in the weeks in which you are eligible to attend. Remember that it is much safer to attend sessions remotely, as you are more likely to contract or transmit COVID-19 in a classroom environment with other students than you are alone in your room engaging with classmates online. I remind you that everyone’s safety and convenience will be much better served if you participate in the discussion sessions remotely rather than in-person. You are required to have the readings handy during class sessions (whether in-person or online) as these will be used for class activities.

Attendance
There is no grade for attendance. However, participation makes up 15% of your grade. You can get full marks for participation by either participating in class synchronously and contributing to the discussion or, alternatively, by posting discussion responses on ELC if you cannot attend synchronously.
Academic Integrity
Every student must agree to abide by UGA's academic honesty policy and procedures known as A Culture of Honesty and the University of Georgia Student Honor Code, which work together to define a climate of academic honesty and integrity at the university.

Special Needs
This course is guided by the assumption of dignity and respect for all persons in the classroom. My hope is to support diversity of learners and to provide a non-threatening environment. Students who feel they may need an accommodation based on the impact of a disability should contact me privately to discuss their specific needs. All discussions will remain confidential. To ensure that you receive the most appropriate reasonable accommodation based on your needs, contact me as early as possible in the quarter (preferably within the first week of classes), and make sure that you have contacted the Disability Resource Center: http://drc.uga.edu

Coronavirus Information for Students

Face Coverings:
Effective July 15, 2020, the University of Georgia—along with all University System of Georgia (USG) institutions—requires all faculty, staff, students and visitors to wear an appropriate face covering while inside campus facilities/buildings where six feet social distancing may not always be possible. Face covering use is in addition to and is not a substitute for social distancing. Anyone not using a face covering when required will be asked to wear one or must leave the area. Reasonable accommodations may be made for those who are unable to wear a face covering for documented health reasons. Students seeking an accommodation related to face coverings should contact Disability Services at https://drc.uga.edu/.

DawgCheck:
Please perform a quick symptom check each weekday on DawgCheck—on the UGA app or website—whether you feel sick or not. It will help health providers monitor the health situation on campus: https://dawgcheck.uga.edu/

What do I do if I have symptoms?
Students showing symptoms should self-isolate and schedule an appointment with the University Health Center by calling 706-542-1162 (Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.). Please DO NOT walk-in. For emergencies and after-hours care, see https://www.uhs.uga.edu/info/emergencies.

What do I do if I am notified that I have been exposed?
Students who learn they have been directly exposed to COVID-19 but are not showing symptoms should self-quarantine for 14 days consistent with Department of Public Health (DPH) and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) guidelines. Please correspond with your instructor via email, with a cc: to Student Care & Outreach at sco@uga.edu, to coordinate continuing your coursework while self-quarantined. If you develop symptoms, you should contact the University Health Center to make an appointment to be tested. You should continue to monitor your symptoms daily on DawgCheck.

How do I get a test?

Students who are demonstrating symptoms of COVID-19 should call the University Health Center. UHC is offering testing by appointment for students; appointments may be booked by calling 706-542-1162.

UGA will also be recruiting asymptomatic students to participate in surveillance tests. Students living in residence halls, Greek housing and off-campus apartment complexes are encouraged to participate.

What do I do if I test positive?

Any student with a positive COVID-19 test is required to report the test in DawgCheck and should self-isolate immediately. Students should not attend classes in-person until the isolation period is completed. Once you report the positive test through DawgCheck, UGA Student Care and Outreach will follow up with you.
