Course Description

This course will serve as an introduction to research on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics (REP) in the United States. The course, while mainly focusing on work in political science, will take a multi-disciplinary approach to investigate the history of race in America and the political consequences that stem from that history. Students will be introduced to both canonical and contemporary work in the field of REP using a variety of methodological approaches. The course begins by focusing on theoretical conceptions of race and ethnicity and how they inform notions of citizenship and group membership. Subsequent topics focus on issues related to Representation, Racial Attitudes, Campaigns, Elections, Media, Political Participation, Partisanship, and Immigration.

Course Requirements:

1. Critical Response Memo
2. Regular participation in seminar
3. Attend class every day (4 absences are allowed)
4. Author Presenter Role in the semester once
5. Short Paper
6. Final Presentation

Critical Response Memo:

The memo should be 2 double spaced pages and should focus on 2-3 readings from the week. Memos should be analytical rather than summaries of the readings. Your goal is to develop an original argument (theoretical or methodological), which improves our understanding of the underlying issues of the week’s topic. Memos cannot overlap with the weeks you present as an author presenter. A sign-up will be circulated in week two.

Attendance & Participation:

You are expected to attend class, read all materials carefully, and contribute to all seminar discussions. In short, you are expected to participate in every single class actively. The quality of comments is valued over quantity. If students come to class unprepared, the quality of discussion will be radically diminished. While students will be required to both facilitate discussion (the week they are the Author Presenter), I expect everybody to come to class prepared to discuss the following questions about each reading:
1. What are the research questions?
2. Key findings?
3. How do the findings from a given paper fit into the broader theme of a given week?
4. What questions remain unanswered?

Author Presenter:

Students will lead the discussion by presenting core aspects of one assigned reading in a 5-minute presentation (however, they are in charge of facilitating discussion for all of the readings that week).

1. What is the research question?
2. What is the theory and hypotheses?
3. What are the findings?

Short Paper: are due Monday, March 15, by 5:00 pm.

Write a 500-word essay responding to whether the U.S. is currently post-racial or most-racial. You should develop an original argument in response to this prompt and support that argument with evidence from class readings, lecture material, current events, and reliable news sources.

Final Presentations: are due Monday, April 30, by 5:00 pm.

For your final presentation, you are tasked with teaching some concept or idea you learned in the course to us, your public audience. You can choose to teach in whatever way you decide, but it must be in a format that is accessible to folks who haven’t spent any time in our course. You can write a popular essay, for example, or you might choose to create a magazine article, a podcast episode, or a video, whatever! Again, whatever method you choose, the objective is the same: teach us something related to the course. A rubric for this assignment will be provided, but excellent products will demonstrate a command of some concept covered in the course, be well executed, and legible to those outside the course.

Required Books (order online; not available in campus bookstore).

Assigned shorter book selections and non-academic articles will be posted on eLC. Please note the reading schedule and reading selections are subject to change if the professor deems it necessary.

   2. Some readings on eLC are password protected. The password is: REP2020

Grade Appeals, Incompletes, Late Assignments, and Make-Up Policy: A final grade of “Incomplete” will only be given in this course under exceptional circumstances and is solely at the discretion of the instructor. If an incomplete is given, it is the student’s responsibility to complete the requirements as early as possible in the following semester. Legitimate excuses for absence from an exam (e.g., religious holiday, medical emergency, or illness) must be presented before the exam when feasible. Late assignments will be docked 5 percent per day (half-letter grade) for each day that a project is late (including weekends).

Office Hours: Students who are having difficulty with the course materials and/or assignments are encouraged to come to virtual office hours. Don’t be afraid to come by. However, please note that office hours are for clarification of material, not for recreating a lecture if you missed class. If my office hours do not work for you, please make an appointment via email.

Syllabus Policy: I reserve the right to make changes to the syllabus if necessary. I will give you fair notice (at least a week) if something, such as a reading assignment, is to change.

Disability Resource Center: If you anticipate needing classroom or exam accommodations due to the impact of a disability or medical condition, you must register for services with the Disability Resource Center. Additional information can be found here: http://drc.uga.edu/

Students can drop any class without penalty during the drop/add period at the beginning of every semester. Dropped courses during the drop/add period do not qualify as withdrawals. Instructors can withdraw a student from the class due to excessive absences (see course attendance policy). Face covering use is in addition to and is not a substitute for social distancing. Anyone not using a face covering when required will be asked to wear one or must leave the area. Reasonable accommodations may be made for those who are unable to wear a face covering for documented health reasons. Students seeking an accommodation related to face coverings should contact Disability Services at https://drc.uga.edu/.

DawgCheck: Please perform a quick symptom check each weekday on DawgCheck—on the UGA app or website—whether you feel sick or not. It will help health providers monitor the health situation on campus: https://dawgcheck.uga.edu/

What do I do if I have symptoms? Students showing symptoms should self-isolate and schedule an appointment with the University Health Center by calling 706-542-1162 (Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.). Please correspond with your instructor via email, with a cc: to Student Care & Outreach at sco@uga.edu, to coordinate continuing your coursework while self-quarantined. If you develop symptoms, you should contact the University Health Center to make an appointment to be tested. You should continue to monitor your symptoms daily on DawgCheck.

How do I get a test? Students who are demonstrating symptoms of COVID-19 should call the University Health Center. UHC is offering testing by appointment for students; appointments may be booked by calling 706-542-1162. UGA will also be recruiting asymptomatic students to participate in surveillance tests. Students living in residence halls, Greek housing and off-campus apartment complexes are encouraged to participate.
