Course Description and Objectives

This course introduces students to key concepts, theories, and topics from international relations and comparative politics, the two primary subfields in the Department of International Affairs. It is a prerequisite for the International Affairs major and all upper-level courses. As “global issues” is a broad (and vague) category that includes far too many topics to cover in a single semester, we will necessarily focus on some topics at the expense of others. Topics covered include international cooperation, international organizations and law, civil war, democracy and democratization, mass protest, ethnic conflict, terrorism, and genocide.

One purpose of this course is to acquire basic knowledge of political events that have taken place in the past or that are still ongoing. To this end, we will read many historical and journalistic accounts of past and current events. However, this is not a history course. Another of its purposes is to examine important topics in IR and CP from a social science perspective. For this purpose, we will occasionally read studies that use theoretical models intended to apply to many different events, as well as studies that use statistical analysis to look for meaningful patterns (for example, to see whether certain kinds of countries are more prone to violent conflict than others). By the end of the course you will have a better understanding of what a social science approach to international and comparative politics entails, and how it can provide useful insights into real world events. Our discussions of concepts and theories will always be grounded and contextualized in specific historical and current events.

Required Reading

There will be no textbook in this class. All readings will be available online through the ELC course site, the UGA library’s website, or elsewhere online. You are expected to read the assigned material, and it is very unlikely that you will do well in the course if you do not. For most meetings, at least one of the assigned readings will be an academic article or book chapter. For more difficult readings, and especially those that use theoretical models or statistical analysis, I will provide a non-technical overview and summary. To make sure everything is clear, I assume that you do not know anything about the topics we cover, though I am sure that is not true! To provide more context and background, the more academically-oriented readings will be accompanied by readings aimed at a general audience (news stories, web documents, magazine articles, etc). Links to many of these readings appear below.
Grades

Your final grade will be determined as follows:
Exams (3): 20% each
Reflection essays (2): 20% each

Exams

There are 3 exams in this course (including the final exam). Exams will consist of 4-5 broad, open ended questions to which you will provide a written response (no multiple choice). You may write as much as you would like in response to each question, but there is no required length. Your responses should be thorough but concise, and should clearly demonstrate that you have read and understand the material, and have paid attention in class. If these requirements seem too ambiguous, I would recommend writing at least 3 paragraphs that each consist of at least 5 sentences.

Exams will be completed online through the ELC course site. You may complete them in the classroom or remotely. If you do not have regular access to a computer please let me know.

The quiz schedule is as follows:

- Exam 1: Thursday, September 23rd
- Exam 2: Thursday, October 28th
- Final: Tuesday, December 14th

On each of these dates an online “quiz” will be available on the ELC site beginning at 8 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m. There are no time restrictions once you begin, other than the 8 p.m. deadline.

Final Exam

The final exam will be online and will take place on the date indicated below. The format of the final exam will be the same as the first two exams.

Reflection essays

During two weeks of the semester, students will submit a short (1-2 pages, single spaced) essay in response to a general question related to the week’s topic/readings. Students will have the opportunity to submit an essay during most, but not all weeks during the semester. The question for the week will be provided on Monday, and the response must be submitted no later than 5 p.m. on Friday. Students choose which weeks they turn in essays, but must submit their first essay by Friday, October 8. Essays should be submitted through a drop box on the ELC course website.

Course Website

The course website can be accessed through elc.uga.edu. You will need to use this site to access the syllabus, course readings that are not available on public websites or through the library’s website, and exams.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a plan for the course, and we may deviate from it. I will clearly communicate to students any changes that become necessary, and will do so in a timely manner.

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who require reasonable accommodations in order to participate in course activities or meet course requirements should contact the instructor or designate during regular office hours or by appointment.

University Honor Code/Academic Honesty Policy

As a University of Georgia student, you have agreed to abide by the University’s academic honesty policy, “A Culture of Honesty,” and the Student Honor Code. All academic work must meet the standards described in “A Culture of Honesty” found at www.uga.edu/honesty. Lack of knowledge of the academic honesty policy is not a reasonable explanation for a violation. Questions related to course assignments and the academic honesty policy should be directed to the instructor.

Withdrawal Policy

Students who withdraw from the class before the withdrawal deadline of October 25th will be assigned a grade based on their performance (pass/fail) in the class up the point of withdrawal. This means that students who are failing will be assigned a “WF” grade even if they withdraw before the deadline. The university automatically assigns a “WF” grade upon withdrawal to students who withdraw from a class after the withdrawal deadline.

COVID-19 Information for Students

If you have underlying health conditions or are uncomfortable attending class in person for any reason, please contact me.

Face coverings

Following guidance from the University System of Georgia, face coverings are recommended for all individuals while inside campus facilities. I’ll be wearing one.

How can I obtain the COVID-19 vaccine?

Please get vaccinated if you haven’t already. University Health Center is scheduling appointments for students through the UHC Patient Portal. Learn more here. The Georgia Department of Health, pharmacy chains and local providers also offer the COVID-19 vaccine at no cost to you. To find a COVID-19 vaccination location near you, please go here. In addition, the University System of Georgia has made COVID-19 vaccines available at 15 campuses statewide and you can locate one here.

What do I do if I have COVID-19 symptoms?

Students showing COVID-19 symptoms should self-isolate and schedule an appointment with the University Health Center by calling 706-542-1162 (Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5p.m.). Please DO NOT walk-in. For emergencies and after-hours care, see the information here.

What do I do if I test positive for COVID-19?

If you test positive for COVID-19 at any time, you are required to report it through the DawgCheck Test Reporting Survey. We encourage you to stay at home if you become ill or until you have excluded COVID-19 as the cause of your symptoms. UGA adheres to current Georgia Department of Public Health (DPH) quarantine and isolation guidance and requires that it be followed. Follow the instructions provided to you when you report your positive test result in DawgCheck.

Guidelines for COVID-19 Quarantine Period (As of 8/1/21; follow DawgCheck or see DPH website for most up-to-date recommendations)

Students who are fully vaccinated do not need to quarantine upon exposure unless they have symptoms of COVID-19 themselves. All others should follow the Georgia Department of Public Health (DPH) recommendations: Students who are not fully vaccinated and have been directly exposed to COVID-19 but are not showing symptoms should self-quarantine for 10 days. Those quarantining for 10 days must have been symptom-free throughout the monitoring period and continue self-monitoring for COVID-19 symptoms for a total of 14 days. You should report the need to quarantine on DawgCheck, and communicate directly with your faculty to coordinate your coursework while in quarantine. If you need additional help, reach out to Student Care and Outreach (sco@uga.edu) for assistance.

Well-being, Mental Health, and Student Support

If you or someone you know needs assistance, you are encouraged to contact Student Care and Outreach in the Division of Student Affairs at 706-542-7774 or visit their webpage. They will help you navigate any difficult circumstances you may be facing by connecting you with the appropriate resources or services. UGA has several resources to support your well-being and mental health. Find out more here.

Counseling and Psychiatric Services (CAPS) is your go-to, on-campus resource for emotional, social and behavioral-health support. See also the Therapy Assistance Online Support site (TAOS), or call 706-542-2273 for 24/7 support. For crisis support see this page. The University Health Center offers FREE workshops, classes, mentoring and health coaching led by licensed clinicians or health educators. See here for more.
