Objectives: This course introduces the major theories and empirical studies in International Relations. After taking this class, students are expected to

- explain theoretical frameworks designed to understand various aspects of international politics;
- understand actors in IR and how they interact;
- learn important and emerging issue areas in the field of IR;
- find their own areas of interest within the field of IR

Course Learning Environment: Every student should feel comfortable speaking in this class. We will value the opinions and ideas of our colleagues very highly. As an instructor, I will promote a classroom environment that encompasses differences in culture, background, and experience among individuals and groups.

Grading Policy: Mid-term Quiz (25%), Class Activity Reports (40% total, 10% each), Final In-class Essay (25%), Attendance (10%).

- Mid-term Quiz (25%): The quiz consists of short-answer questions and short-essay question. The quiz is based on in-class discussion, lecture, and slides.
- Class Activity Reports (40%): Students will submit four one-page reports that include two paragraphs (sections) corresponding to each of the following —
  - Summary of in-class activities (5%): This section briefly summarizes the in-class activity of the week. Students also briefly report how they participated and what they learned in the class activity.
  - Reading extension (3%): This section explores how the activity is related to the assigned readings in the class.
  - Real-world extension (2%): This section explains real-world actors, remarks, events, and history drawing on the theory and lessons learned with the class activity.

- Final in-class Essay (25%): Two long essay questions. The instructor provides a group of questions that would be asked in the final.
- Attendance (10%): The instructor will call the attendance every class. Full credits will be given to those who have up to three absences without justifications. One point will be deducted for each absence without justification after the first three absences. Please find more information in the attendance policy section.
- The overall class grade will be calculated on the following scale:
  - A  $\geq$  94
  - A-  $\geq$  90 and  $<$  A
  - B+  $\geq$  87 and  $<$  A-
  - B  $\geq$  84 and  $<$  B+
  - B-  $\geq$  80 and  $<$  B
  - C+  $\geq$  77 and  $<$  B-
  - C  $\geq$  74 and  $<$  C+
  - C-  $\geq$  70 and  $<$  C
  - D  $\geq$  60 and  $<$  C-
  - F  $<$  D

Grading Disputes: If a student wishes to dispute a graded assignment, the student can send the instructor a one-page memo within one week of receiving the graded assignment. The memo should respond to the feedback on the assignment from the instructor. The instructor will carefully review the assignment and its grade, given that the memo provides a reason to do so. After regrading, students must accept the reviewed grade, even if the grade is lower than the original assignment.

Late Work Policy: Late work is defined as submitting the assignments after the established deadline. Work submitted by a student as makeup work for an excused absence is not considered late work and is exempted from the late work policy.

- There will be no late work policy for the mid-term quiz and final in-class essay.
- ‘Class Activity Reports’ will be considered as a late work if it is submitted within 24 hours after the due date and time. No later submission can be accepted.

Attendance Policy: Students are expected to attend class and to complete all assignments. To be considered for an excused absence, the student must notify the instructor in writing (e-mail is acceptable) prior to the day of absence. In cases where advanced notification is not possible, students must provide notification by the end of the second business day after the last date of the absence. This notification must include an explanation of why the notice could not be sent.
