Course Description

This course will use the interstate dispute between Alabama, Florida and Georgia over the shared river basin of the Appalachicola-Flint-Chattahoochee (ACF), popularly known as the “Tri-state Water Wars,” as the framework to explore issues around the application of federal and state environmental legislation in the context of shared river basins, the interaction of statutory law and common law in the area of water resources, the interplay of federalism in our constitutional structure as it relates to the application of law and regulation in this context, and the legal and regulatory elements involved in Original Action Case No. 142, Florida v. Georgia - in which Florida sued Georgia in the United States Supreme Court seeking an equitable apportionment of the water resources of the ACF basin. The course will also explore the complexities around the negotiation of interstate compacts over shared water basins in the context of the ACF dispute.

Assessments and Grading

Your grade will be composed of your class participation and scores from a Midterm and Final Exam. Since this class meets only once a week, it is important not to miss class, if at all possible. Participation will be broken into an attendance component and a class discussion/participation component. Given the length of our weekly meetings, we will take a break or two during the class.

- Final Grade: composed of the following:

Quiz Average – (3) In Class (Unannounced) (Drop lowest) – 10%

Midterm Exam – In Class (October 2) – 25%

Final Exam – In Class (TBD) – 35% - Non-Cumulative

Participation – 30% - (attendance 15%, class discussion 15%)

Example:

Quiz Average	90 (.10) =	9
Midterm grade =	80 (.25) =	20
Final Exam grade =	88 (.35) =	30.8
Participation – Attendance	100(.15) =	15
Participation – Class Discussion	100(.15) =	15
Final Grade		89.8 (A-)

Grade Distribution:

○ A	92.5 – 100	4.0
○ A-	89.5 – 92.4	3.7
○ B+	86.5 – 89.4	3.3
○ B	82.5 – 86.4	3
○ B-	79.5 – 82.4	2.7
○ C+	76.5 – 79.4	2.3
○ C	72.5 – 76.4	2
○ C-	69.5 – 72.4	1.7

- Quiz Procedure: We will have three (3) pop quizzes during the semester. These will not be announced and will cover the reading assigned for that class. The quizzes are open book and open note. We will administer them at start of class, and while they will be short in duration, we will stick with a strict time limit which I will announce at the beginning of class. You will be allowed to drop your lowest score. Given the nature of the quiz, if you miss a class period during which a quiz was administered you will have to take that quiz as your drop. I want to encourage prompt and faithful attendance and staying abreast of your reading assignments. I expect you to score well on these quizzes assuming you have prepared for class.
- Exam Procedure: The Mid-term exam will be administered in class and proctored by the instructor. You will be given the option to provide hand written answers to the exam (please bring a blue book to record your answers) or you may type your answers on eLc platform with Exam Lock or other software that will lock your screen to prevent any access to online or other materials. You are not to use your commuter or phone or any other online device to aid you in your answers. You will be allowed to bring up to 10 pages of notes in hard copy into the class for the exam.
- Final Exam: In-class, hand-written answers to the exam. Final Exam Date and Time: TBD
- Use of Artificial Intelligence (Generative AI): Unauthorized use of artificial intelligence software or word mixing software to provide answers for quizzes, exams or to write a paper or to disguise plagiarized work is considered unauthorized assistance in this course.
- Exam Makeup Procedure: Makeup exams will be scheduled for a time and location in coordination with the student and the instructor.
- Attendance Policy: Since our class only meets once a week, missing even one class is not advised. Excused absences will not count against your attendance grade; however, only genuine, unavoidable emergencies will be excused. Perfect attendance will earn a 100 on the attendance portion of the participation grade. One absence will result in a 95; 2 absences an 85; 3 absences a 75; and 4 or more absences will earn the student a 65 on the attendance portion of the participation grade. Similarly, poor attendance will impact the class discussion portion of participation grade as well.
